Meet the Tech-Savvy Tactician

I proudly served as an active duty U.S. Army soldier from 1985 to 2005, then continued my service as a U.S. Army civilian until retiring in 2025. Along the way, I founded The Computer DoctorRX— a company dedicated to delivering dependable, high-quality IT solutions since 2005.

Now fully focused on my business. I provide clients with strategic, personalized tech support— from server management and remote assistance to custom tracking systems and website development. My approach blends decades of military precision with entrepreneurial innovaton.
